Long Grove went into a sleepy decline in the 20's and 30's. The quaint, old buildings remained untouched by progress. In the 40's several women opened an antique resale shop. Inspired by the interest in the "untouched" quality of the area, other shops soon followed. It proved a boon that highways 83 and 53 had bypassed the crossroads, preserving the historic integrity of the village. An Historic Landmark Ordinance has now been passed that guarantees the preservation of all historic landmarks and requires that all new buildings at the crossroads must conform to the architecture of the early 1800's. And so Long Grove today remains faithful to its beginnings.

A detailed map of the Long Grove, Illinois area, showing a network of roads and highways. A black square marks the location of the Long Grove APTAKSIC RD. The map includes labels for Lake Zurich Rd, Lake Michigan, and various roads such as Long Grove Rd, McHenry Rd, Palatine Rd, and Northwest Hwy. Highway shields for 55, 22, 83, 143, 94, 53, 90, 12, 14, and 94 are visible. A compass rose indicates North is up.
